

Help plan Redwood Park

CITY OF ARCATA

ARCATA – The City of Arcata is preparing to implement the Redwood Park Improvement Project in summer 2023. To assist with that, the city is seeking community input to refine the playground theme and equipment elements planned for the park. Community members are encouraged to take a few minutes to complete an online survey at tinyurl.com/RedwoodParkSurvey.

Several years ago the city initiated a Redwood Park Master Plan process with involvement from community members and families. Conceptual improvement designs were completed in 2020, and the City has since secured construction funding from multiple sources.

Redwood Park is the City of Arcata’s premier community park in the redwood forest, providing active and passive recreation opportunities for people of all ages. The Redwood Park Improvement Project seeks to renovate park facilities to ensure families can continue to make memories in this unique forested park setting. Renovations are planned to include replacement of playground equipment, accessible parking and trail improvements, a bicycle pump track, basketball court resurfacing, outdoor amphitheater relocation and conservation of redwoods in the playground area.

Potential playground themes are castle adventures, redwood ecology, nature, playable art, ships and fitness.

Community members who prefer to complete a paper survey can pick one up at the Environmental Services counter anytime Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. For more information contact the Environmental Services Department by email at eservices@cityofarcata.org or call (707) 822-8184.

Eureka Recycling Center temporarily closing as SB 1383 changes kick in

CITY OF ARCATA

ARCATA – As of Monday, Aug. 1 Arcata residents will need to find a new location to recycle certain items. The Humboldt Waste Management Authority (HWMA) is temporarily closing the Eureka Recycling Center on West Hawthorne Street in Eureka.

According to HWMA, the Transfer Station side of the facility will continue to accept household recycling (glass, plastic, paper, cardboard, cans), carpet, tires, and hazardous waste materials (batteries, lightbulbs, chemicals, etc.).

Items that are not being accepted can be taken to the following locations:

- Appliances – Recology Eel River (965 Riverwalk Dr., Fortuna)
- Scrap Metal – Arcata Scrap and Salvage (192 G St., Arcata) or Eel River Salvage (850 Riverwalk Dr., Fortuna)
- TVs and E-waste - Recology Eel River (965 Riverwalk Dr., Fortuna) or Humboldt Sanitation (2585 Central Ave., McKinleyville)

The temporary closure of the Eureka Recycling Center will allow HWMA and Humboldt County Jurisdictions, including the City of Arcata, to work toward SB 1383 compliance by utilizing the vacated space to conduct organics collection and processing activities.

SB 1383 is a new California law, considered the largest change to waste management in 30 years, and will affect everyone. It includes organics recycling and edible food recovery. All businesses and residents will need to subscribe to an organics collection service when those services become available. Stay tuned for more information about organics collection services and the new location for the Eureka Recycling Center.

For more information on SB 1383 visit calrecycle.ca.gov/organics/slep/education. For more questions or concerns on the closure of the Eureka Recycling Center contact operations@hwma.net or call (707) 268-8680.

Rep. Huffman announces local airport fixup funds

CONGRESSMAN JARED HUFFMAN

SAN RAFAEL – Congressman Jared Huffman on July 25 announced $16.1 million in funding from the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) for airport improvement projects in California’s Second Congressional District. The funding is going to four airports along the North Coast to assist with much-needed upgrades and rehabilitation and was allocated through the FY2022 federal funding package that Rep. Huffman voted to pass.

“These airports are vital parts of our region that have been long overdue for funding to better serve the folks who rely on them. Investments in a life-line airport like ACV are essential for the safety of the travelling public and to the economies of rural areas,” said Rep. Jared Huffman, who serves on the House Transportation and Infrastructure Committee. “We need to maintain and improve this infrastructure regularly to meet the increasing demands. I’m glad to have delivered this funding, which will help fuel our local economy and boost safety, commerce and tourism in air travel.”

The funds through the FAA Airport Improvement Program will pay for runway rehabilitation and extensions in Humboldt and Sonoma counties. More than $13 million will repave and stabilize the runway at the California Redwood Coast-Humboldt County Airport (ACV), which was last done in the early 1990s. The project will stabilize the runway and allow it to operate safely for another 10 to 20 years and better handle the larger aircraft that now service ACV. The main runway will have 2 inches of asphalt removed and replaced with 6 inches of fresh asphalt. Outdated lighting and electrical infrastructure will also be replaced and upgraded. Construction is expected to begin in spring 2023.

Also funded are wildlife hazard assessment and management plans and electrical systems studies for Murray Field Airport outside Eureka and Rohnerville Airport outside Fortuna. In Novato, $900,000 will go toward extending the Gness Field Runway and $1.725 million will allow Petaluma Municipal Airport to rehabilitate the aircraft apron.

“We really want to thank Congressman Jared Huffman for the continued support he provides for us on the North Coast,” said Virginia Bass, Fourth District supervisor and chair of the Humboldt County Board of Supervisors. “Receiving over $13 million in Federal Aviation Administration funds would not have been possible without his ongoing partnership. These projects will have an impact on so many residents and visitors in our region for years to come.”

Lantern Ceremony is Saturday

CITY OF ARCATA
ARCATA – The City of Arcata Recreation Division has announced that the 39th Annual Arcata Lantern Floating Ceremony will take place on Saturday, Aug. 6.

This event is an opportunity to offer spiritual consolation for everyone affected by the pandemic, those we miss, departed loved ones, ancestors, and all we hold dear. The City of Arcata’s Nuclear-Free Zone Committee started the Arcata Lantern Floating Ceremony 39 years ago to commemorate the U.S. atomic bombings of Hiroshima and Nagasaki in 1945 and to affirm Arcata’s dedication to the cause of peace, to bring awareness to the dangers of nuclear proliferation, and to advocate for environmental sustainability.

On Saturday, Aug. 6 a lantern-making station will be set up at the Arcata Plaza Farmers’ Market from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Materials and lantern-making assistance will be provided.

Later that evening, the ceremony will take place at Klopp Lake, located in the Arcata Marsh and Wildlife Sanctuary from 7:30 to 10 p.m. with lanterns entering the water at sunset. The event will be hosted by Arcata Mayor Stacy Atkins-Salazar, and will include poetry reading, shakuhachi flute music by Rick Kruze, the McKinleyville Choir, and the Raging Grannies.

Ceremony attendees are encouraged to walk, bike or to take a shuttle to the event. Parking will be available at the Arcata Marsh Interpretive Center parking lot located on South G Street with a shuttle running from the South G Street parking lot to Samoa Boulevard and I Street beginning at 7 p.m. and for the duration of the ceremony to accommodate event participants. There will be no vehicle access at the Klopp Lake parking lot, except for those with a designated Disabled Person (DP) placard or license plate.

Community groups helping to create this event include the City of Arcata, Humboldt Buddhist Peace Fellowship, GI Rights Hotline, Shinnyo en, Humboldt Unitarian Universalist Fellowship Social Action Committee, Veterans For Peace, Humboldt Friends Meeting (Quakers), United States Servas and the Women’s International League for Peace and Freedom.

The 39th Annual Arcata Lantern Floating Ceremony is free and open for all to attend. For more information, visit cityofarcata.org or call (707) 822-7091.

HUMBOLDT CRABS

Creating the beloved Crusty Crab

Ella Zerlang grew up going to Crabs games. “We went to games as little kids and my dad got involved in the organization,” she said.

She’s the daughter of long-time Crabs board member Larry Zerlang.

And she worked for “five summers, doing head counts and taking tickets.”

She knows her crustaceans.

And she is the creative mind behind the beloved mascot, Crusty Crab.

Little kids and big kids love having their photograph taken with Crusty. When Crusty walks around the ballpark, he’s surrounded by children.

“It really is awesome to see all these kids flock towards him,” she said.

Sometime around 2012 or 2013, Crusty was born.

“They had crab hats and my dad said, ‘you ought to make a mascot.’ I didn’t even know where to begin,” Zerlang explained.

“Latners Upholstery gave me the foam scraps. I carved them with a turkey knife,” she said. “I did the feet first. It took a lot of thinking and playing with the materials.”

Zerlang describes herself as always being “crafty.” But creating a mascot was a challenge.

“I didn’t even know where to start,” she said. “Making a creature that walks on its belly stand upright was a challenge.”

She started laying out fabric and working with the foam. “I tried to mimic his funny little smile.”

The Crusty Crab costume is filled by different Crabs staff and even a volunteer. He almost always walks around on Sunday when many families and children attend the game. Rachel Finkelstein, a Crabs staff member is his “keeper and bodyguard.” She leads Crusty around (visibility inside the mask can be difficult) and helps folks get their pictures taken with

Crusty.

Finkelstein has good qualifications for the task as she graduated in Child Development from Cal Poly Humboldt in 2020. She gets the fun job of organizing the sack races, the leap-frog races, and the crab races along the third base line during the games. She also coordinates the chance for kids to run the bases after the end of every Sunday game.

“We’ll ask who wants to be Crusty and everyone takes a turn – different security members and even a volunteer, Jason Ball,” she said.

Crab Gab caught up with Finkelstein and staff member Teagan Hesseltine at a recent game. Hesseltine is in his first year as Crabs staff as a “roamer.”

“We cover people on the crew and support Noah and Bradley,” he said. “I’ve made good friends and we get paid to watch the game.” Hesseltine was a lineman on the football team at Arcata High, continuing the Crabs tradition of hiring young athletes for security. Finkelstein was on the “HSU women’s crew for four years.”

And where does Crusty go during the off season?

“He lives in totes and bags,” Zerlang said. “I keep working on him and fine tuning him,” she added.

We’ve been referring to Crusty as “he” but that may not be the case. “If you ask my dad, he’ll say that the name is Crustella, after me,” Ella Zerlang said, laughing.

Stellar pitching propels Crabs

Richard LaPreziosa
MAD RIVER UNION

ARCATA – When Garrison Finck took the mound Saturday night at the Arcata Ballpark, the Crabs, holding a 10-0 lead, were cruising toward another victory, and in the midst of a dominant display of pitching stretching back to mid-July.

Perhaps symbolic of the pitching prowess, Finck dealt a pitch to the batter for victim-of-the-week Seals Baseball, who swung wildly, missing the pitch and losing his balance.

As strike three was announced by the umpire, in whatever language umpires always seem to be yelling in, the batter lost his balance and fell forward into the dirt, recovering onto his feet with a Willy Wonka-like somersault strike-out that seemed to be out of a Popeye vs. Bluto cartoon.

Like Popeye on spinach, the Crabs have been absolutely toying with opposing batters for weeks now, as they fool them, vex them, over-power them, and most significantly, not allow many runs.

The Crabs staff had a bad outing (for them), on July 13 when they allowed 7 runs in a losing game. Since then they’ve given up only 16 runs in 13 games in a stretch which included 6 shut-outs and a no-hitter.

This impressive streak hasn’t come without challenges, however. With starting pitching superstar Nick Perryman on the mound Saturday night protecting a four run lead in the fifth inning, the Seals had managed to load the bases in one of those two-out rallies Crabs manager Robin Guiver always points to as winning opportunities.

But with Perryman seemingly on the ropes, he landed a knock-out, strike-out punch to end the inning to the delight of the cheering fans, gesturing in a show of strength as he walked off the mound toward his team who came out of their dugout to greet him in appreciation.

“That was the most emotion I’ve seen from him all summer,” Guiver would say about the moment. “It’s great to see. You want to experience it and live it up.”

“You’re out there to do a job and get your guys off the field as quick as possible,” Perryman would tell me after the game Sunday, understating his excitement from the night before.

And this pitching prowess has been matched by, of course, relentless hitting.

The gaudy scores Crabs fans have come to know and love are in full effect, as run totals like 22, 26, 15 and 14, have lit up the scoreboard in Arcata as the Crabs surge toward the end of the season, leaving fallen batters and base-path dust clouds in their wake.

With a current record of 31-10, they play the Fresno A’s mid-week and will wrap it up for the year with a three game series this weekend against the Sacramento Yankees.

Wildberries' Ricords pledge $50K to Life Plan Humboldt

LIFE PLAN HUMBOLDT
ARCATA — Longtime owners of Wildberries Marketplace, Phil and Jeannie Fierce-Ricord, have made an initial pledge of $50,000 over five years to Life Plan Humboldt. They hope that making the pledge public will inspire and encourage others to generously support Life Plan Humboldt. "I hope that Wildberries can continue to work with Life Plan Humboldt to make your dreams come true" says Phil Ricord. Wildberries has been honoring seniors for over 11 years with their Elderberries 10 percent discount program.

Life Plan Humboldt is a local non-profit formed to plan, build, and support Humboldt's first and only all-inclusive life plan community for adults 60 years of age and older. The is no such option within 200 miles of Humboldt County.

We are planning a community that reflects North Coast culture and values and that includes a mix of income levels representative of Humboldt County population. Residents will have easy access to the arts, fresh and healthy foods, fitness programs, and a holistic approach to wellness. This community will offer older adults independent private residences, shared dining, and activities, assisted living and memory care all on one campus. If they or their partners need a higher level of care, they can get it without moving off the campus.

Life Care Humboldt has raised over $900,000 in donations, pledges, and grants in 2022 and will need to raise an additional million in the next two years to pay for development expenses. We are looking at two excellent building site options in Arcata and McKinleyville.

The Life Care Humboldt Board of Directors express their sincere thanks to Phil and Jeannie Fierce-Ricord for their commitment to supporting local seniors as they age.

Farm to School grant

HCOE
EUREKA — The Humboldt County Office of Education's (HCOE) Nutrition Programs and Services recently received a Farm to School grant totaling over $99,000 from the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA). HCOE was one of 10 California awardees to win from nationwide entries. The USDA provides funding for planning, training, and implementation grants. The USDA provides funding for planning grants, training grants, and implementation grants. The Farm to School Grants are awarded annually to help fund projects that increase the amount of local foods served through child nutrition programs, teach children about food and agriculture through garden and classroom education, and develop schools' and farmers' capacities to buy and sell local foods. Erin Derden-Little, HCOE's Farm to School coordinator said, "We are extremely honored and excited to be a recipient of this competitive funding. Several factors have limited the number of educators and students we can serve directly with our Harvest of the Month (HOTM) program, as well as the number of months we are able to feature local produce. Our project addresses these challenges to make HOTM more accessible and localized. In addition, this project will help us critically examine how we design and deliver HOTM to ensure that our HOTM program is inclusive and respectful of the cultures and communities of the students we serve."

Scenes from a small town trying to preserve its values and traditions

In one of the early episodes of Yellowstone, the cowboy soap opera set in Montana (now streaming on Peacock), a land development company is about to begin construction of a gigantic housing project that will grow the small town quickly and sizably, a development that some want and some don't. What's at stake? The town's character, its traditions, and the matchless landscape that contains them.

Unfortunately (it turns out, at least for the developer) the project is located next to John Dutton's mega-ranch, and John Dutton is not a man to be messed with. One scene finds the horseback-riding rancher (Kevin Costner) looking across a barbed wire fence enclosing one of his prairies onto a newly planted (by the movie crew?) green of the developer's pristine golf course, where the CEO himself looks up from his putt to confront the enemy he believes he has out-manuevered, and says so. Yeah, we'll see about that, replies the smirking, soft-spoken, larger-than-life Costner (a great choice for this role.)

If the project is allowed to come to fruition, well, there goes the neighborhood, the viewer feels, this wonderful landscape loved by cowboys, sportsmen, outdoors people, and of course the Native Americans who have always lived there and who would just as soon stand back and watch all of the above simply go away.

So much for the dynamics, not that hard to get, even if you haven't watched the show: Big Rancher, Big Developer, The Original People, Small Town in the country (trying to hold onto its traditions). Perhaps this sounds familiar?

Well, the Big Developer, exuding smugness as Big as the investor wealth he controls, at some meeting or other, brags that he can do what he wants on the land that he has purchased because "this is not California where you have to do what you're told; this is Montana where you do what you want."

Moreover, a perfectly good water source, a virgin mountain stream, runs right through the developer's property, so the town is left off the hook for having to supply that commodity.

It looks like Nature will win (pristine waters flow forever.) The developer will win (make a lot of money.) The Town will win (get the housing.)

Even the Native Americans will win, at least this time, as the deal will bring in more customers for their casino. The tribe's president (as wise as he is experienced in the white man's ways) has a long-range plan for all the money they'll be making from the casino, that is, to one day buy out John Dutton.

So much for the Dutton Clan.

Wait a minute. What was that explosion up there in the mountains on the Dutton Ranch? What's going on with the Virgin Mountain Stream? It has been re-routed. The result? No more water to feed the new housing development; therefore, no more housing development.

John Dutton wins after all. John Dutton always wins. Not even Nature can stand up against a man as big as him. For over his career he has appointed the Sheriff, The Governor, a U.S. Senator or two. John Dutton is Nature, at least in Montana.

Nobody saw that coming. Nor did we. While many of us were looking the other way, Cal Poly Humboldt purchased a sizable piece (16 acres) of the bottoms. The city had recently annexed the land to make it ready for development. What do you think the University plans to do on that site?

Well, this is not Montana, where you can do what you want, as the movies have it, but California, where rules matter. Although the governor sometimes comes from the movies, once he takes office it's not the movies anymore, but reality.

As for the university, as part of the state, it has all the money and power of the state behind it to do what it has to do to achieve its directives.

Ummm. I wonder where that leaves our small town by the bay with its tradition-loving folks and its dreams of sustainable growth at a manageable pace?

Where is a Taylor Sheridan when you need him? (writing six screenplays at the same time I hear) I guess we'll have to write the next chapter of this saga ourselves. We can start the chapter with the Virgin Mountain Stream in our town that recently got re-routed across the freeway, first to encircle the Craftsman Mall and now it's been re-routed up to the Bottoms. Whether that's a good thing or a bad thing, when boundaries get moved it matters which side you end up on.

The guy on the horse never loses in these kinds of situations, it seems. For one thing, he's taller than the guy standing on the ground on the other side of the fence with a putter in his hand. Only one of them has enough power to change the course of rivers.

Daniel Duncan's novels and a screenplay may be found at SmallWorldBookpress.com.

If I hit you in the arm, does that mean I get to keep the cookie?

• Friday, July 1 4:33 a.m. A man brought in by ambulance fled the ER wearing only black shorts.

4:55 a.m. A man described as disturbed and suffering a mental health episode ran in and out of yards down Ribeiro Lane, at one point entering someone's home.

5:23 a.m. A man and woman were described as running down Ribeiro Lane at Felix Avenue, yelling all the way. The man tried to open someone's gate, then there was some commotion in a neighbor's backyard. The folks there are on vacation, but now a light was turned on inside – coincidence?

7:26 a.m. Educators at a Janes Road elementary school located next to the hospital discovered a break-in, with multiple doors kicked in and a trail of blood throughout the school. Nothing immediately appeared missing, and police were asked to review the corpuscle-rich video.

8:08 a.m. One person's ceiling was another woman's floor at a Seventh Street senior housing facility, said floor and the downstairs resident enduring bouts of screaming and stomping during the upstairser's snitty episodes.

10:15 a.m. A behemoth residential RV and associated truck took up the bus parking spaces at the Arcata Marsh Interpretive Center parking lot. Another motorhome with Oregon plates had been taking up six parking spots. Meanwhile, a travel trailers towing vehicle was taking up two spots, with all the usual wretched refuse discarded about the vicinity.

10:26 a.m. Unleashed service dogs five in number romped and charged about the Plaza. Someone was warned.

10:48 a.m. Screaming was heard outside a Boyd Road business. A man and woman were walking a dog when a raccoon attacked it, dragging the hapless pooch under a fence. The man wrested the doggie from the raccoon's jaws, but was concerned about the possibility of rabies.

10:54 a.m. A Q Streeter said his landlord had blocked his payments on Venmo, and was concerned that he'd be evicted.

2:58 p.m. A tent set up under a tsunami sign on South G Street provided unintended symbolism.

9 p.m. As a Samoa Boulevardier moved out of an apartment there, the embittered cohabitant threatened to throw out her animals, like any of this was their fault.

• Saturday, July 2 9:49 a.m. Police were asked to stand by as possessions were retrieved from an apartment on Samoa Boulevard. The resident said his boyfriend had "gotten rid" of his animals via unspecified but ominous-sounding means.

• Sunday, July 3 1:08 p.m. An elderly Arabian Lane resident said her granddaughter, presently located in an RV out front, was suffering from COVID and was threatening to come into her house and infect her very grandma.

• Monday, July 4 5:14 a.m. An Alliance

Roader complained of having been doxxed by her ex-boyfriend's new girlfriend.

10:09 a.m. The now-infamous anti-Semitic flyers delivered in plastic bags appeared on Sunset-area driveways.

12:18 p.m. A nocturnal de-beautifier's twofold tactics for uglying up an H Street backyard were to throw garbage around and rip out the flowers.

3:44 p.m. An Alliance Road resident was sure someone was inside her apartment, possibly locked in her bedroom.

8:53 p.m. When challenged, householders dumping their personal trash in a Uniontown pizza parlor's bins went from insouciant nonchalance to derisive laughter, displaying acute symptoms of their particular dickheadedness sub-variant.

• Tuesday, July 5 10:46 a.m. A Creamery District shop was left with a broken window and smashed planter boxes.

11:57 a.m. A man who stole a cookie hit a concerned store employee on the arm and strode off towards the Plaza, where he was arrested.

7:21 p.m. Downstairsers turned the tables on the classic practice of weaponizing the floor, usually conducted from above. In this case, ferocious first floorians poked their ceiling, roiling the very ground beneath the feet of their second-floor nemeses. Then they argued with one bloke when he went out to his car.

8:53 p.m. A cell phone stolen in a Uniontown supermarket bathroom pinged to a homeless camp near the marsh.

• Thursday, July 7 1:59 a.m. A woman said a man brandished a gun at her at the marsh, grabbed her brown purse, then ran off toward an encampment.

4:11 a.m. A man at the marsh kept saying, "I have not fulfilled my responsibilities to the county" and other ramblings, and wondered if its safe out there, basically because of all the sketchingtons like him roaming around.

5:46 a.m. An alert citizen reported two areas of concern. One was a "questionable"-looking box taped to a taco shop, the other was the muffled cries of someone stuck in an M street storage locker.

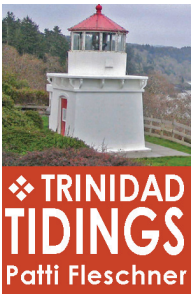

8:46 a.m. An anti-Semitic flyer was discovered in Hauser Court.

10:27 a.m. A campsite near the Breakfast Club clearing burgeoned to trail-blocking proportions.

12:59 p.m. When someone attacks and tries to bite you, you remember their face. And now that face was found, attached to a man sprawling in the Community Center entrance with a bunch of bags. The fighty-bitey bagman was moved along.

3:57 p.m. A man who had a warrant out for his arrest wandered into the police station to complain about "everyone on the street harassing him by looking at him." After giving police a good look at him, he was arrested.

• Friday, July 8 1:47 p.m. A black bongo (singular) with a matching strap and white head was stolen from the Plaza, reducing the park's pitter-patter potential and allowing improved listening conditions for the roaring motorcycles and raging fusspots.

Life’s lessons come at you fast – but will we ever learn?

Value diversity, build community

The Hebrew Bible teaches, “Love your neighbor as yourself.” (Leviticus 19:18) We want to thank the many thoughtful neighbors and residents who reported, collected and destroyed hateful anti-Jewish fliers recently found in Arcata, Eureka, Scotia and Rio Dell. The same offensive materials have been found in other regions of California and other states.

We also appreciate ongoing assistance from the Arcata and Eureka Police Departments and the Sheriff’s Office. The outpouring of support on social media is particularly heartwarming.

Although Jews make up merely .2 percent of the world’s population, there are deranged bigots who think that this tiny group is responsible for all the world’s problems. We are grateful to everyone who speaks out against any expression of antisemitism whether the result of hatred or ignorance.

Just as we feel loved, appreciated and protected by kind neighbors, we will endeavor to support any and all victims of prejudice and hate. Together we can build caring communities that reflect the deep values of our diverse religious traditions.

Stand in solidarity with all marginalized

We, the Humboldt Asians & Pacific Islanders in Solidarity (HAPI), were heartbroken and enraged by two recent hate filled incidents (“Sanctuary Garden vandalized – vigil in progress” Union, July 22; “Hate flyers probed” Union, July 14).

On July 21, at the Jardin Santuario (Sanctuary Garden for the local immigrant community) in Arcata, vandals spray painted “AMERICA USA” over the garden welcome sign. Two weeks ago, anti-Semitic flyers were found in Arcata and surrounding areas.

Although these are separate incidents, both were fueled by hatred and ignorance reflecting an increase of such incidents locally and nationally. Nationwide hate crimes targeting Asian Americans have also risen.

HAPI stands in solidarity with Centro del Pueblo, Cooperation Humboldt, the Eureka NAACP and organizations committed to defend all marginalized individuals against all forms of racism and discrimination.

We are encouraged by the overwhelming supportive community and police response to these incidents, but we must do more. These shocking incidents are a wake-up call to our community – while these incidents were perpetrated by individuals who do not represent the majority of our community, we must all address the underlying causes to prevent a hateful culture to take hold and grow.

We as a society and as a nation can no longer tolerate devaluing the lives of people of color, immigrants, of diverse religious traditions and the LGBTQ+ community. Like a sanctuary garden, our inclusive community as a whole can be a transformative place of sharing, nurturing and growth to the benefit of all.

Please find out how you can be involved by checking out the websites of the aforementioned local organizations.

Hoover hates the victims

It is obvious to me from both the article and editorial opinion piece that Kevin Hoover wrote in the July 27, 2022 issue of his Mad River Union newspaper, that the only person of guilty of hate or at least strong dislike, in regards to the topic of people wearing yellow star buttons is Kevin Hoover himself.

He has made negative statements against the unvaccinated both in his newspaper and in private emails to me where he would explain why he would not print a letter to the editor because I was speaking out against the COVID-19 agenda. I assume his strong dislike of the unvaccinated must include those individuals who are unvaccinated and also belong to one of the groups he is defending, the Jews, the LGBTQAI+ and the BiPOC.

I wonder how it feels to be a person who on one hand is being defended, and on the other hand being persecuted? It might be confusing. Maybe Hoover thinks all unvaccinated people are white nationalists and white supremacists.

There are plenty of Jews that I know who agree with me, that the wearing of the yellow star button is in no way a hate crime against Jews and that the people who are seeing it in that way, are choosing to see it that way.

In my opinion Hoover, and maybe others who are calling it a hate crime, may be attempting to use the term as one more weapon against the unvaccinated, and also to silence dissent against the tyranny that has been occurring. I cannot understand why anyone would want to silence dissent against tyranny. I wonder what Hoover thinks about the Nuremberg code because it seems like he does not think about it at all.

The biggest purpose of exploiting this hate speech/crime topic during much of the last 2.5 years since COVID-19 was let loose upon the world, may be for it to be one more distraction from the most important issue at hand and that is the powerful entities colluding together to take away freedom (and everything else) from the whole world.

One group that I’m sure does not appreciate Hoover’s opinions regarding COVID-19, are the people who have been injured and/or have unexpectedly lost a loved one, not long after they were “vaccinated” with the experimental mRNA gene-therapy injection. Imagine people being coerced to take the injection or face losing employment, or not be able to attend college, and then one of these terrible things happens, all with no recourse, or anyone to hold accountable for it.

As I write this, some totalitarian California legislators are trying to pass a bill, SB 866 which will give children the age of 15 or older the right to take one of these injections without their parent’s consent! I wonder what Hoover has to say about any of these things, or if he is even aware of them happening?

I am running once again for Arcata City Council, on a platform of freedom, including the freedom to have complete control over our own bodies without being discriminated against or persecuted for it. Please visit my website at danaquillman.com for all kinds of important information that is being kept from the public, which may help to make decisions that may have permanent negative consequences.

There used to be something called “informed consent,” which was the norm in the medical community, up until COVID-19 and then it just disappeared! It has become an obvious fact that an uninformed public is so much easier to manipulate and control.

I will end here with what I said in my public comment at the July 20, 2022 City Council meeting, “Hate speech in the United States cannot be directly regulated due to the fundamental right to freedom of speech protected by the Constitution.” Thank goodness, because if that ever changes, we will no longer have any freedom at all. My body, my choice!

Cannabis reform needed
Petition for Signatures for the Humboldt Cannabis Reform Initiative

As the county issues more cannabis permits, social and environmental impacts on the county will only increase further to expand water deprivation of watersheds and rivers and degrade health, safety, and welfare of rural neighborhoods. Four years ago, county supervisors set a cap of at least 3,500 total permits, which is more than double the present number (perhaps 1,400).

Despite the current cannabis market down-turn and over-supply, the county Grand Jury wants the county to accelerate approval of 900 permit applications that are now under consideration. Our watersheds, rivers, and rural residents cannot withstand a doubling of cannabis cultivation, especially associated with large-scale industrial operations.

The Humboldt Cannabis Reform Initiative addresses current and future cannabis-related water shortages and social problems by capping the total number of permits to about the present number, halting new permits for large-scale industrial operations, limiting diversion of water from streams and wells, mandating inspections, and improving enforcement.

The public would have more voice in approval; public hearings could no longer be waived, neighbors would be notified of applications, and the public could be at the table for permit renewals.

The measure would prevent more destruction of fish and wildlife by reducing the future permit cap previously imposed by Supervisors, as well as by helping reduce harm being done by non-compliance operations currently permitted.

Please consider signing the petition so that the measure can get on the June 2023 ballot. The petition can be signed at Farmers’ Markets and the Humboldt County Fair, and is available at cannabisinitiative.org.

I blame Gerald Ford

I have watched the meetings of the January 6 Committee with continual dread. And I blame Gerald Ford. Gerald Ford pardoned Richard Nixon. In that one moment he set the stage for a Donald Trump to rise to power and resist the peaceful transition that is a cornerstone of our democracy.

Gerald Ford always maintained that he issued the pardon as a way for the country to move forward and try to heal the rifts. The problem with that thinking is twofold.

First, the rifts continued to grow leading to more backlash and a turbulent procession of divisive politics. Second, the country needed to see that a sitting president was not above the law. If you believe the rumors, Betty Ford was absolutely apoplectic at this move.

If Gerald Ford truly stood up for the Constitution and this country, he would have put Richard Nixon on trial. Yes, it would have been ugly, but at least it would not have had the internet and all the massive misinformation. It would have set a precedent that would have pushed Republican politicians into removing Donald Trump before he waged war on our Country and our Congress.

It is important that Donald Trump be indicted, but that will probably not happen. It is even more important that he is restrained for ever seeking office again, at any level.

On a side note, does anyone really believe that Ivana Trump fell down some stairs and broke her neck? She steadfastly refrained from telling anything or getting involved. But when she realized that her ex-husband was setting her children up to go to jail in his stead, was she still willing to remain silent?

Thank you for listening,
Jan Phelps

Time to change, evolve

Just last week, I started counting my old campaign signs and resources for re-election, meeting with my campaign manager and securing endorsements.

While my position at the City has provided me with plenty of ups and downs, I never entertained the thought of not running again. So, in a way, I’m as surprised as many of you to announce that I am not seeking a second term as mayor of Eureka.

As a reminder, the position of mayor is a part-time job. I also work full-time as the Program Director for the Arcata Economic Development Corporation (AEDC). In this position, I work regionally on issues around economic development. My love for this work ultimately led to running for Mayor in the first place.

At AEDC, I can collaborate with others to work on systemic problems around our community needs. I can also develop programs that serve the needs in the workforce, housing, health care, childcare and climate change as well as support and celebrate our small businesses and young en-

With the pandemic affecting the economy in so many ways, organizations like AEDC have become a way to get funding directly into communities. For AEDC, and me specifically, that meant one nearly $5M allocation of ARPA funds from Humboldt County to distribute to the childcare industry through a variety of programs. We’re well positioned to receive two more $5M grants for regional economic development work in the next several months. Clearly, this influx of capital is going to take a considerable amount of my time and focus.

When I started serving as mayor, my work at AEDC was easily manageable. Now, it is much more consuming, but impactful in ways I have always dreamed it could be. Given the growing workload, I had to honestly ask myself if running for another term was the best option. I realized it would not be the best for me, and – more importantly – I don’t think it would be best for the City of Eureka.

I really love being mayor. I have been privileged to have such a supportive council to work with. I have always been impressed that each member has had a variety of perspectives, but a similar vision for the future of Eureka. We have had times when we didn’t agree on policies or practices, but everyone remained respectful, even behind the scenes.

I have also been honored to work with the staff at the City of Eureka. I have never known a more hard-working group of public servants. I have not met anyone on staff who isn’t doing an incredible, sometimes inconceivable, amount of work with a genuine desire to serve the City of Eureka.

I love Eureka and the exciting opportunities I see in the near future. Without a doubt, I will stay engaged after the election, but in a different way. I may be working regionally, but Eureka is my home of choice, the coolest town on the North Coast, and I will continue to be an advocate for our prosperous future.

McK Land Trust thanks

The McKinleyville Land Trust would like to thank the McKinleyville Area Fund (MAF) for their generous donation to our Mad River Bluffs property.

These funds will be used to rebuild the south stairs which is a popular access route to the Mad River. The stairs are in urgent need of repair to improve public safety.

The hiking trails at Mad River Bluffs are well used by our local community, and the ability of our all-volunteer organization to maintain public access is dependent on membership dues, individual donations, and grants like these.

The McKinleyville Land Trust works to conserve and manage local open spaces for ecological, recreational, educational and other environmental and community values.

Our Mad River Bluffs and Chah-GAH-Cho properties provide hiking trails open to the public in natural areas managed to preserve wildlife habitat and native ecosystems. We also manage the Dow’s Prairie Educational Wetland which is accessible by appointment only.

We appreciate MAF’s support for the work of the McKinleyville Land Trust and for helping other McKinleyville non-profit organizations fill the needs of our community.

❖ THEATRE PREMIERE

The Unstrung Harp

THE UNSTRUNG HARP

EUREKA – Humboldt theatre fans can come enjoy the premiere of The Unstrung Harp, an original physical theatre comedy coming to Synapsis, 1750 Union St. in Eureka on Friday Aug. 5 and running through Sunday, Aug. 14.

Created by Dell’Arte MFA graduates Kathryn Cesarz and Jesse March, The Unstrung Harp follows author C.E. Earbrass in his home as he writes his next novel. Combined physical theatre, physical comedy, shadow puppetry, and stage magic make this dreamy portrait of a creative in solitude come to life.

Kathryn Cesarz

Jesse March

Audiences may be familiar with Jesse March and Kathryn Cesarz’s recent work in the Humboldt County area in The Three Musketeers at Ferndale Repertory Theatre (Jesse), The Complete Works of William Shakespeare (Abridged) [Revised] at North Coast Repertory Theatre (Kathryn), Around the World in 80 Days, called “simply the best holiday show from Dell’Arte in years”, and Jesse and Kathryn’s frequent performances as their comic characters The Devil Herself and her emotional support demon, Belphe.

Kathryn brings her visual imagination to this new adaptation of a classic illustrated story, and lightning-in-a-bottle physical comedian Jesse March will bring the duo’s knack for engaging storytelling to life.

The production adapts an illustrated story by Edward Gorey, originally published in 1953. Gorey is known for his macabre pen-and-ink drawings in Victorian and Edwardian settings.

Longtime Dell’Arte lighting designer Michael “Spike” Foster will design lights for the production, and former Dell’Arte faculty James Peck narrates the show.

The Unstrung Harp is appropriate for all ages, and will be best enjoyed by audiences ages 7 and up.

Shows are on Friday and Saturday nights, Aug. 5, Aug. 6, Aug. 12 and Aug. 13 starting at 8 p.m.

Sunday matinees are Aug. 7 and Aug. 14 and begin at 2 p.m. Tickets are $20 and can be found at theunstrungharp.com.

MAD RIVER UNION

BLUE LAKE – “It will be bringing us together again,” said Humboldt Folklife Society volunteer coordinator Anne Kinne.

“We’ve missed the ability to see each other, to dance together,” she added.

Last year would have been the 20th annual Buddy Brown Blues Festival in Blue Lake. It was cancelled because of the pandemic so this year will still be the 20th annual. The T-shirts were already made when the festival was cancelled so this year they will be collector’s items.

Buddy Brown was born Richard Duggins but was better known as Buddy Brown and the Hound Dogs as his last band was named. He hosted Blues Nights at the Jambalaya, inviting musicians from all over the county to sit in. That was a happy time.

Brown played at the first Blues Festival in 2001, just a few months before his death. The festival was then named in his memory.

This year’s festival features all local musicians playing in

The Humboldt Folklife Society brings all kinds of events to the community, including the recent all-free day at the Dell’Arte amphitheater. Board member Terry Uyeki reminds folks that the Buddy Brown Blues Festival is the group’s only fundraiser all year long.

Notice to potential bidders: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. Notice to property owner: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (866)-960-8299 or visit this Internet Web site <https://www.altisource.com/loginpage.aspx> using the file number assigned to this case 2022-00486-CA. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale.

BLUE LAKE – Yurok Tribe owned Mad River Brewery and Grey Snow Management Solutions, an Iowa Tribe of Kansas City and Nebraska company, have announced their partnership to expand craft beer production and distribution, through the development of a Midwest distribution warehouse and brewery located on the Iowa Tribe of Kansas and Nebraska reservation.

Through collaboration, the tribal organizations are maximizing the potential of their capabilities, infrastructure, and expertise. This innovative business partnership represents the modern adaptation of intertribal trade practices with an aim of generating new revenue streams and jobs for tribal citizens in Kansas, Nebraska, and California.

“We are incorporating 21st century technology into our traditional trade practices to create an entirely new economic system that is reflective of our core values surrounding environmental protection and corporate responsibility,” said Joseph L. James, chairman of the Yurok Tribe. “This outside-of-the-box business model will accelerate our effort to build brighter future for tribal people and the planet for generations.”

This follows recently announced professional sports partnerships with the brewery and the San Francisco Giants, as well as the San Jose Barracuda, but the planning and talks have been long in the making and are but one clue to the brewery’s comprehensive and aggressive strategy for expansion and Indigenous visibility. This partnership of two forward-looking and earth-conscious organizations will advance both environmental and social endeavors on and off the reservation, contributing to true tribal sovereignty. Both companies want to shed light on what inter-tribal partnership can “Partnering with Mad River Brewery is right in line with our vision to work with well-established entities towards the enhancement of economic development,” said David Tam, CEO of GSMS.
